The Hours

Democracy à la Manchester student body no monarchy! no anarchy! no communism! not much socialism! and no dictatorship (except in disguise) chosen of the students, by the students, and for the students with all the noise that pervades Oakwood and Blokewood, having "qui-et" a time entertaining at open dorms promoting schemes for surprise serenades shouldering responsibilities sponsoring cooperative activities among the students always trying to make life more pleasant.

Men's Student Government

During the summer of 1940 the men's dormitory took on a new supervisor, new hardwood floors, "knife-proof" doors, new wall paper, and a general spirit of added cheerfulness. Came September and a stream of 96 boys flowed into the rejuvenated building. Within a short time pictures were hung, beds were made (?), and the year 1940-41 was under way.

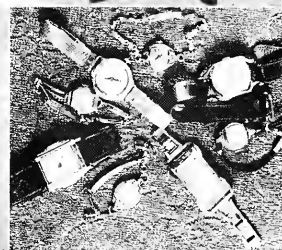

Such a group of high spirited youth naturally must be governed. Therefore two senators from each floor, a secretary-treasurer, a senator-at-large and a president were installed. With the exception of a few unruly freshmen, the executive system operated efficiently. And so, after the usual round of Pepsi's, popcorn feeds, paddling parties, and study (?), we, the so-called Men's Student Government, hereby relinquish all claims to our offices and extend sincere wishes for continued success in the year 1941-42.

Alarm Clocks

Seth Thomas

"Time travels in divers paces with divers persons. I'll tell you who Time ambles withal, who Time trots withal, who Time gallops withal, and who he stands still withal."

Ring-g-g-g-g Where's that alarm? A mass of covers at the end of a groping hand Can't be morning yet just got in bed I don't want to get up, don't want to get up, don't want to get up in the morning!

Tick—tock—tick—tock ho-hum! won't this hour ever go by! Does Prof labor under the delusion that we know what he's talking about? Uh-oh, we're off again Tick—tock—

"Oh, gosh! It's ten!" she gasped as she looked at her watch and raced toward Oakwood Hall.

"Time is the lord of thee: Thy wealth, thy glory, and thy name are his."

Glen Kistler has blown into the picture. . . . Is Jane Bechtold chained to the piano? A French horn seems to have "lapped" up Dale Henrick's attention. . . . Mrs. Ruth Hawk's smile makes her picture all-American.

There are icicles on the Christmas Tree, but that isn't a cold shoulder that Rosemary Frick is showing. . . . This is a "Horst" of a different color—we call him Bob. . . . Phyllis Martz isn't watching her steps again. . . . I wonder if Devere Dawald is cleaning his gun for Sadie Hawkins' Day.

Here we have Willis Kurtz without a count of three. . . . Then, Carolyn Gurley looking for a bookworm maybe. . . . Of course, it's Paul Weimer and his melting ways. . . . Grace McClaran, a state champion, orates.

This picture adds up to Velma Paul. . . . Oh! Sure we have Bob Underhill to clear things up. . . . Dorothy, what do you have to Sha-ffer yourself? This is a before and after picture of Editor John Young—After the Aurora being he'll look like the man on the left.

Tish! Tish! such a dignity for a college student, but, of course, it is J. Edward Myers. . . . I wonder who Fran Nellans is paging. . . . Some chauffeur Bill Noffsinger makes for Prexy. . . . This last picture has a notebook, so we can take note of Evelyn Bowen.

Gene gives us a chance to tell a woman's success story, Cot-to-er-man . . . here we have Roma Glee Wilson brushing up. . . . Do you suppose Paul Dotson strayed from his lessons to listen to the song, Eloise? . . . That is a huge book Isobel Rarick has. . . . I didn't think she needed one.

Alyce Skidmore is sewing us a fine seam—it "seams sew" anyhow. . . . Darrell Fryman is going to show us what the score is maybe. . . . Maxine Young is doubling up on her reading. . . . here we have chivalry a la Richard Beck.

That is a "Price"-less smile you have, Doris. . . . Vera Wetters shows us one way of looking over the International situation. . . . The French horn Robert Schnar has looks rather confused. . . . Lois Hartsough seems to have a lot of "Leasure" time.

Let's ask Ned Hutchinson how his garden grows. . . . Lois Snyder is dialing in. . . . Edith Blough is very "Young" "Evan" now (excuse my Swedish). . . . Don Rowe is cutting up again.

Draped in this easy chair is Virginia Stoner. . . . "Row, row, 'Royer' boat" sings Dee. . . . A pill in time saves Leah Stone more work. . . . She is not sweet sixteen but sweet Christine Frederick.

Juniors

Class of 1942

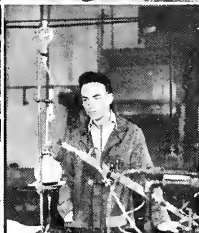

Hurry up, Leo Metzger; you're going to be late to class. . . . Organ-ically and a-chord-ingly June Replogle poses for us. . . . Jim Mowrey leaves Oak Leaves and forgets his dead-line for a minute. . . . Is Emogene Hessler penning in or penned in the registrar's office?

Take a tip from Ruth Fuchshuber, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." . . . Jim Pusey (long u please) hob nobs with the "pallid bust of Pallas." . . . Make up your mind, Irma Grace Fisher. Are you coming or going, or coming? . . . George Bunce gets all steamed up.

Yes, we see what you mean, Benton Rhoades. . . . Betty Baker steps out—on the steps of Oakwood. . . . You've got an understanding look, Eldon Pippen, so maybe you'll explain what goes on here. . . . This Borders on the studios, don't you think so, Esther?

Juniors

Problem: Is Elinor Huffman leaving or arriving?—Answer: Leaving if it's before 10 p. m. . . . Dave Richardson horns in. . . . Why, Mary Ellen Overman, what lines you're giving us! When Darrell Dunham plays around, he faces the music.

Bobby Brandon, Burt's handy man, is always Neher. . . . Keeping "posted" made simple by Jane Smith. . . . Since music "makes the world go round," Bob Zigler makes us dizzy. . . . Gladys Dumond (Zimmerman now) gives us that "Quiet, Please" glance.

Here's Virginia Wagner with that "Far, Far Away" look. . . . Isn't that bottle empty yet, Gene Menzie? . . . Emma Gossett makes a pretty picture—two pictures to be exact. . . . Presenting Harold "Drummer Boy" Fearer.

Dale "Salty" Peters prepares to Rohrer. . . . Here we have Joan Miller getting the air or a station or something. . . . Get back to your work, Bob Pfeiffer! —You can't loaf on library time. . . . Does every letter from home make you that happy, Lorrana Kuhn.

Juniors

An easy chair, a fire place, a quiet nook—Phoebe Anne with nary a Theye (pardon the lithp) gives us comfort a la Fish. . . . Phil Griffiths is getting all keyed up for—well, what would you say? . . . Two, four, six, eight, ten books can't hide Marge Miller. . . . Going to "ball out" someone, Burdette Hoke?

Don't you see that "No Parking" sign, Loren Metzger? . . . If Frances Parks goes domestic, you can't beat her cakes. . . . When we do that Wieland on a finger, but Larry doesn't even watch what he's doing. . . . Who are you waiting for, Dorma Eubank? You won't wait long with a smile like that.

Marge gives us that "Young" look. . . . Sorry we bothered you. . . . Take care Dale (Doc to you) Kinzie; you may get mixed up in that mix. . . . Just a minute, Esther Buschman, don't work "Sew" hard. . . . Tsk, tsk, laughing at your own joke again, Ed Crill?

Arresting pose by Frank Ireland. . . . We juniors are such busy people! . . . Thank you, Fernie Searer, for a real display, two sets of ivories. . . . Uh—Oh! We're late again. John Noffsinger's ready to start Sunday School. . . . "I'm sorry I can't understand you." Would you repeat that please, Eldonna Carbiener?

Appearances may be deceiving. Are you really two tired, Frances Studebaker. . . . Can't fool us, Merle Newby, you're not eating in the dining hall. . . . Eileen Emley at the "Show backs of books" desk pauses to smile for us. . . . It's "curtains" for Lew Williams if he's really trying to study.

Class of 1942

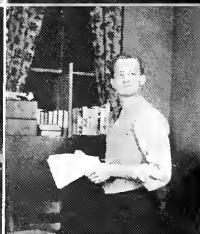

Class of 1942

John "Bucky" Walters clicks on the typewriter. . . . No wonder the social room is so popular. . . . Do you smile at everyone that way, Bertha Mae Overly? . . . Watch that figure, Hank Morris! You might get the wrong line. . . . "Dear——," what did you say her name was, Edgar Burkey?

Jan Kepler stops almost long enough to have her picture snapped. . . . Why, Jack Summe, have you no modesty—that's bare leg. . . . George Ewing ready to swing out—Uh, we mean, render a selection. . . . Say, isn't that Betty Anne Keim cutting up again?

With the right inspiration, Dale Love's studying. . . . That's Red (Wilbur on the enrollment card) Long with all those pans and a camera. . . . Say, Gladys Leedy, you'll see more if you look through the microscope. . . . Can't you see Bob Wisner's busy? The freshmen want their papers graded.

Is that your favorite hillbilly tune, you're picking out, Clyde Conley? . . . Her shadow and Ruth Sink on the stairs. . . . Oooh! Bill Stewart, you squeaked on that one. . . . Al Flora keeps up to date—Why, Al! What's that you're looking at?

Mary Kathryn Ehninger fiddles around with her bow. . . . Von Clevenger is simply either getting in or getting out of the car. . . . An in-press-we photo Bill Hiatt and Gene Hedges at the wheel. . . . Alice Miller on the stairs. . . . What a horsey picture! Oh, not you, Dick Schutz, but your companion.

Legacy of 1941

Take a Tip from us (but treat her well—she has a kind heart within that fierce exterior) beauty is only skin deep play square never let your studies interfere with your education never accept “de feet” don’t “leg” behind times Oakwood parlor, the social room, Thomas Marshall and—you know the others—our leg-acy.

The Sophomores

Presenting the Class of '43 . . . supposedly ambitious to succeed . . . demonstrating superiority over the Freshies—in one way or another (i.e., dousings in the fountain, paddling, etc.) . . . presumably preparing for campus leadership . . . showing some traces of self reliance . . . finally deserving the more or less coveted title "Upperclassmen" . . . producing an Aurora editor and staff (who will try to equal this unique edition—maybe) . . . the sophomores.

The Freshmen Class

The Rhinies enrolled with anticipation, aspirations, and dread . . . striving to adapt to the new environment . . . taking whatever was handed out by the upperclassmen (those wonderful creatures the freshies will be—sometime—perhaps) . . . gaining confidence (not too much—the sophs saw to that) . . . finding new friends . . . looking forward to three more pleasant years.

CABINET

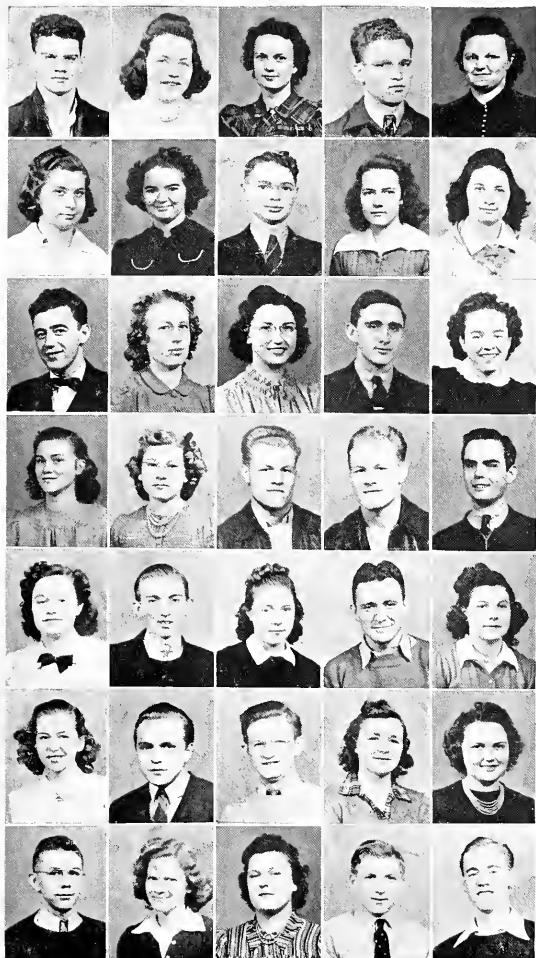

Seated: Phoebe Fish, Ferne Rohrer, Ora Pottenger, Miss Barnhart, Mary Stone, Pauline Smith, Velora Halleck.

Standing: Catherine Oberholtzer, Virginia Wagner, Grace McClaran, Marjorie Stinebaugh, Milly Dierdorff, Dortha Neher, Roberta Studebaker, Geneva Pottenger.

Y.W.C.A. with the slogan "Service for Others" is perhaps the first club with which any prospective student of Manchester College comes in contact. Every freshman girl receives a letter during the summer signed "Your Y Pal" and during Freshman Days it's the big sisters that get the Rhinies started right.

The well-planned banquets, box lunch socials, quiet hour, speakers, commissions, and skating parties are a few of the activities that earn for Y.W. the reputation of being the organization with the largest sphere of influence on the campus.

The Oak Leaves Goes to Press

"Censored! Cut!" "There goes my column slashed to ribbons," quoth Angel (alias Geneva Brodbeck Pottenger) . . . "Do you know any news without me in it?" drawled an energetic reporter . . . "This is the deadest week!" groaned the harangued editor.

There is no reason for any student to be uninformed of what is going on about the campus. "Keep them informed" is Oak Leaves' motto. It serves also to keep the folks at home, the alumni and friends of Manchester up to date.

At any time during the first half of the week a number of persons may be seen scanning the campus with notebook and pencil at hand, ready to pounce upon the slightest bit of news. The room in the basement of the Administration building from which the clicking of typewriters is heard and a light is seen every night is the place where Oak Leaves grows into shape from the crudest scribbles to typewritten articles and finally to its completed form.

Through the common interest and combined efforts of each staff member, Oak Leaves has been a product enjoyed by every student and his friends.

The '41 Aurora Staff

Pepsi's, popcorn, home-made ice cream, cookies—oh, no, not a feed—just Aurora staff at work (?) . . . and those maxims—What ones?—oh, like "Education is what you've got left when you forget all you've learned" and "Success comes in cans—not can'ts"—sayings like this graced the walls of the Aurora office to provide stimulus when ideas were slow (unfortunately too often) . . . Oh, yes, there was plenty of hard work and thought—with refreshments, of course.

How often we went "Around the M. C. Clock!" It almost made us dizzy—but snatching a vague conception, fostering its growth, and viewing it in its entirety is a pleasurable experience.

In its final form Aurora reminds us of much cooperative effort, many valuable experiences and interesting associations. Now and in the future may it prove to recall the chapters of your life spent at old M. C.

We of the elite 44's are proud of the role we have enacted in the Manchester College portrayal of journalism. We have splashed the printers' ink with many a scoop on Oak Leaves—"heh, heh." Of course we've ruffled a few feathers, and blown apart a few smoke screens with our "smoldering Bark" under the direction of our own Prof. Conkling. Then there's the Bole with its distinct Conkling character-istic collection of narratives fulfilling the purpose desired. Prof. Hoff's great masterpiece of eye attraction, the traditional "Cinder," so called because it gets into the public's eye, also has won the general plause of "Man-chestercollegites." Last and certainly not least comes that last word in journalism, that in-evitable, that never-say-die publication, the "Acorn." It is a magazine full of beautiful art, the greatest in any year previous, and the suc-cessful penning of freshman students makes it one of the highlights of the year.

W.A.A. introduced itself very effectively to the student body at a tea. It was one of the season's best with its teepee, its Indian singers, and the delightful atmosphere that ensued.

With the flowers that W.A.A. sold at the Homecoming game floating around, the student body was again quite conscious of their presence on the campus.

Every member gets a chance to participate in ping-pong, officiating, basketball, badminton, camping and scouting, tennis, baseball, and archery. Zest and fun were added too by the Hallowe'en party and the Christmas party.

W.A.A. sponsored Posture Week and the effects of it can still be seen walking or sitting around.

To top off all of these events, W.A.A. sponsored Playday for the high school girls in the surrounding area. Peeking into the gym, on this occasion, one couldn't help but enjoy the fun that was being had.

Even in a brief resume of the year's activities, we can't help but be impressed by what has been done.

Women's Athletic Association

The College Sunday School, under the direction of Dr. C. S. Morris, is organized by the students for the benefit of all. A corps of professors cooperate by taking charge of the different classes.

The opening exercises of the Sunday school usually consist of a talk on some topic of general interest and major importance, supplemented by group singing and special music.

To relieve the monotony and produce variety the classes and the Sunday school cabinet alternate in planning and presenting the programs. Visiting talent as well as campus talent is employed in making this an interesting and worthwhile introduction to the Sunday worship.

College Sunday School

Within the last year the need for a practical Christian religion has been accentuated by the unrest and suffering arising from the war. The basis of Christian religion has been challenged. The desperation at worldly conditions has driven people to analyze the eternal verities and really to put them into practice. Now is the time when a clear, practical explanation of Jesus' teachings is needed—an explanation so effective as to make an understanding of the Divine Word the driving power in men's lives. The manifold worldly problems rubbing shoulders with Christian doctrines are only waiting for an integration. This is the challenge of the ministry—to establish in all people a firm Christian foundation and enthusiasm for God's work.

Through a basketball team, fellows' pastorate, and through speaking to various groups, further fellowship is possible.

For a two year old, Tri Alpha Club is indeed a precocious youngster. Born last year of a dramatic urge, which still flares high, the club is now in full stride, having produced a group of one act plays, and three full dramas in its short life. Play producing is not its only motive, however. Training in interpretation and in all dramatic art is its purpose. Plays are produced as the medium to furnish opportunity for all students to see the best the playwrights have to offer.

Varsity Debate

"I am a pledge to T.K.A. May I assist you in any way?" With these words the humble pledges address members of Manchester's only honorary fraternity. The activity also enjoys candy and services, also furnished by the lowly pledges, who must burn the midnight oil memorizing Caesar's Funeral Oration.

Tau Kappa Alpha is a national speech fraternity and our local chapter sponsors the famous speaker's bureau, the intra-mural debate tournament, the extemporaneous speaking contest, and other activities.

Pres. Winger was awarded an honorary membership this year for his meritorious record as a college president and public speaker. Five students were pledged this spring on the basis of participation in intercollegiate debate and other speech activities, scholarship, popularity, and the unanimous vote of the members. Two faculty members, Mrs. S. Wampler and Dr. W. W. Peters, were also pledged. The M. C. Chapter is now in its fifth year of existence.

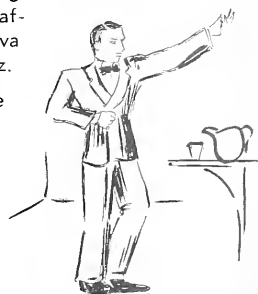

Look! For the first time in all history, the men's squad and women's squad come to you on one page—one picture. This united front, no doubt, is an outgrowth of the question of "Union in the Western Hemisphere."

The first debate tournament participated in by the M. C. squad this year was held at Bloomington, Illinois. The teams did a fine job by bringing home first place.

Manchester's invitational tourney has outgrown itself. Seven hundred and fifty debaters entered the fray under the colors of sixty-seven colleges. Manchester alone came through with an undefeated team on each of the negative and affirmative sides. Those four unconquerable souls were Geneva Pottenger, Grace McClaren, James Brock, and Galen Frantz.

How many peons are there in Latin America? Do we have military bases in Brazil? The answers are in the debate bible called "Facts About Latin-America" by Dr. Berthold F. Hoselitz.

Professor Beauchamp called debate meetings at seven A. M.—the only regular class on the campus meeting at this unearthly hour. Are debaters wide-awake people? They'll tell the world they are.

Oratory

GRACE McCLARAN

BENTON RHOADES

The ghost of an idea incubating the thoughts scribbling a general outline writing a rough copy rewriting revising memorizing practicing accepting suggestions more practicing—all hard work which results in a good oration.

Grace McClaran and Benton Rhoades, as Manchester's representatives in the state oratorical contest at Franklin College on February 7, really brought home the bacon for the school (and the junior class). Grace, an active participant in speech activities on the campus, won the women's division with "Wives are Women Too" as she expressed the view that women should have the right to work. Giving "America in Us," Benton pointed out the stupid attitude of Americans toward so-called fifth columnist activities.

If you happen to be in the Ad Building on a Friday evening about 6:30, you are almost sure to hear a rumble on the stairways as the members of Mathea-Rhetoria gather together for another one of their meetings. These meetings are undoubtedly one of the best chances that a freshman has to gain good social poise, enjoy wholesome fellowship, and receive good training in leadership. We enjoy all types of impromptu and extemporaneous speeches as well as excellent performances in musical solos and memorized readings. Occasionally we are treated to a play which some of our members have worked hard upon. We all join in group singing and sing all of the old rounds and some of the old folk tunes. Throughout the year we try to give everybody an opportunity to either serve as an officer or on one of the many committees which carry out our club program. We also try to have every member appear on the program in some way or another. Mathea-Rhetoria has always been and continues to be a helpful and inspiring organization.

Lincoln Adelpia

No place on the college campus offers the opportunities for getting acquainted with fellow-classmen as do the literary societies, and Lethea Phronia has not fallen short of its duty in that respect. After the impressive candle-light initiation down by the Kenapocomoco, the members of the society put their noses to the grindstone and with determined enthusiasm commenced to plan and enjoy a year of varied activities. Ability originality talent pep all of these characterized this group, and it was not long before the various aptitudes of the members had been discovered and employed towards useful ends. The entertainment features presented a wide range of interests and included everything from quiz programs, spelling bees, impromptu debates (remember the one on girls being allowed to have equal date-asking privileges with boys?) to social gatherings. One program that was enjoyed immensely consisted of campaign speeches by members of the society for the candidates that were running for the position of president of the U. S. at the time. Lethea Phronia contributed generously to the amateur programs, for ability in both the field of forensics and music was predominate. And thus the Lethea Phronia aided the new, undiscovered freshmen by helping them find new friends, molding their characters, and stimulating their talents.

Freshman society was a new experience to the members of Lincoln-Adelphia, but the adjustment was made easily. The first thing to be done was to organize and get a program started. One of the most frequently used sources of program material was musical talent. Lincoln-Adelphia had an extra large share of musicians on the rolls and music was included with almost every program.

Another ingredient of the programs was provided as a result of an interest in drama. There were several pantomimes and skits mixed into the program schedule. Of course there was public speaking of all varieties, prepared and impromptu. With the variety of program material and participation, the members were able to learn to know who the other members were in a relatively short time.

In addition to the series of programs there was the social side of our activities. Perhaps this was one of the most important things the society did in the orientation of many of its members. The different parties throughout the year offered a chance to meet one another on a more personal basis.

Every member of Lincoln-Adelphia, this year, had an opportunity to participate in the activities of the society. Society is an integral part of the life of a Manchester freshman.

German Club

France fell before the school year opened, but her language and customs continued to enliven the bimonthly meetings of Le Cercle Français. The fall term began with a weiner roast in the college woods with most extravagant rationing.

Even more active during the homecoming season the group added spirit and fun to the football victory with its sale of balloons. The Yuletide brought the annual Christmas party and Santa Claus with his grab bag. Deeper winter meant sleigh bells and chili soup, cold noses and other accessories. And then spring—the climax of any year!—the second annual formal banquet—everything à la France.

Oh yes, and there were meetings, too, in between the parties. Lotto, Lexicon, spelling bees, and crossword puzzles were some of the games that usually rounded out the business part. Little Red Riding Hood very subtly visited one meeting with an excellent dramatization of "Cupidon, Dentiste."

So with a laugh and a song les Français Americans march onward!

Farmer Jones from his "abodie" along the Salamonie probably thought Hitler's legions had actually arrived as the strains of "Du, du liegst mir im Herzen," "O Tannenbaum," "Stille Nacht" (in October too!), etc., floated across the river one night last fall. Quite to the contrary, Hiram, old man, it was merely the M. C. German club on excursion—just one of the many excuses for our local "Dutchmen" to sing German songs, eat, and in general enjoy themselves to the utmost.

Along with the year's hilarity came moments of a more serious nature too. Stefan Kaufman's mother made one meeting unforgettable with an interesting account of her experiences as a German refugee. On another occasion Stefan himself delivered a stirring oration—in German, while his "intelligent" audience tried with varying degrees of success to "keep up."

The entire student body benefited later in the year when Fraulein Slabaugh's proteges brought a German movie to the campus.

We are an organized group banded together in the common pursuit of a deepened linguistic understanding and appreciation. Our roll call sparkles with the gems from our choice bits of Roman Literature. Officers and committee members conduct the business with due consideration to our Roman law-making fathers.

"Adestes Fideles" keeps our Latin consciousness alive even as we carol.

Late in January we were again singing in honor of the goddess of poetry and song. Thus our annual banquet was officially entitled "Carmentalia."

Another high note on the program was reached when we were taken on a delightful itinerary through Italy via Dr. Hoselitz's "lingua."

We have a harmonious union in the gleanings of Virgil, Ovid, Cicero, Juvenal, and Horace. And we progress to our goal through the strength of the common "Chord," (the Latin) in their "Satires and Odes."

With the world in a state of conflict this year the International Club has had an abundance of current events in which to absorb its interest. The Draft Bill, the 1940 elections, the war in Europe and the Orient, and problems of neutrality have been sources of numerous programs. The International Club is fortunate in having as members several European students. They have shared with us their impressions of America and have given us some first hand information about their native countries. The club as well as the entire school has enjoyed lectures by Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, president of the American Business and Professional Women's Club, Dean Bender of Goshen College, Dr. Cordier of our college, Dr. T. Z. Koo, Howard Sollenberger, and others.

The International Club with its large membership fills an ever important place in the school's activities. It welcomes all students and is ready to share its opportunities with the community.

Mathematics Club

There is a mistaken idea abroad that because the constituency of Science Club is composed entirely of members of the stronger (?) sex that it is a society of misogynists.

At any rate, twice a month these fifty fellows, under the sponsorship of Dr. C. W. Holl, gather to discuss items of interest in the realm of science.

Two energetic presidents have planned and executed a varied program. This has been accomplished by means of student talks and demonstrations, and quiz games.

However, contacts with the outside world haven't been severed, as can be seen by the fact that Dr. William Lloyd Evans, president of the American Chemical Society, was a guest on our campus under the auspices of Science Club.

All work and no play is said to make Jack a dull boy, so to prevent this the group went on a big week-end trip-picnic outing. (At this time the fellows realized why that persistent pest, the secretary-treasurer, had been so insistent about the payment of dues.)

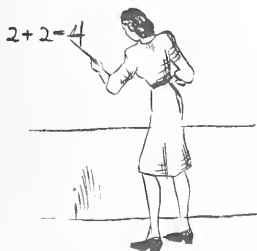

Science Club, an affiliate of Chi Sigma—the national science organization, is indeed striving valiantly to uphold its traditional reputation as the intelligentia of old M. C.

Mathematicians (who, believe it or not, are perfectly normal people) like to get away from the hustle and bustle of things in general and enjoy a bit of rambling in the world of the abstract and the infinite. So the Mathematics Club was organized on the campus about twelve years ago and has served its purpose well.

Throughout the year papers are presented by upperclassmen on subjects of interest; the physics professor as well as an occasional off-campus speaker is secured for lectures now and then; ciphering contests are held, and there is always the magic square to fall back on for entertainment.

Lest we forget, the social committee sees to it that there is an occasional weiner roast (by the river) and skating party for math club members only.

All in all, you will have to agree it's a pretty good investment for fifty cents a year—YES IN-DEED!!

At the opening of the fall term, Commerce Club started off its second year with a "bang", and in the form of a watermelon feed. Following this was a wide variety of programs, including musical programs, a Prof. Quiz contest, practical demonstrations of office equipment, moving picture on business subjects, skating parties, and informative talks, by such men as lawyers, high school principals, government experts, business men, newspaper editors, etc.

The Commerce Club of Manchester College was organized to provide a social outlet for commerce students, as well as to supply an opportunity for contact with business men and teachers who have learned through experience and can pass on their knowledge to those who are looking forward to teaching commerce or are planning on entering business.

After successfully completing the first two years of its existence, Commerce Club can look forward to even bigger, better, and more practical things in the future.

The Elementary Education Club may be one of the newest clubs on the campus, but it is far from being the least active!

Besides the club giving the elementary teachers—the potential ones—a chance to hobnob together, they have a conference that is given for all of the alumni elementary teachers.

This conference is to be an annual affair and from the example that they have given us this year, this event can be listed in the "it-would-be-a-shame-to-miss" events on the campus.

As just one of the projects for the club, they furnished and redecorated their own clubroom.

They have a good start and we give them our best wishes for continued success.

Madrigal Club

OFFICERS

Caleb Frantz, President
Elcise Pearson, Secretary; Phil
Griffith, Treasurer.

One does not need to climb to "seventh heaven" (really the third floor of the Ad Building) to hear the Madrigal Club practice, for twice a week ninety-four students vocalize to the strains of "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." The appeal of their warm-up song increases with each repetition (Thanks to their director).

The Madrigal Club has had as its ambition the presentation of choral music that became established during the 16th to the 20th centuries. But the club has cultivated not only madrigal singing but also other types—spirituals (which are favorites with all), folk songs, Palestrina, and sacred numbers. However, the outstanding production of the music year here at Manchester was the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" on December 15. Several surrounding choirs and visitors in addition to Madrigal created a choir of 350 voices. Through the joyousness of the "Hallelujah Chorus" and the peace of the "Pastoral Symphony" the Christmas spirit filled all the vast throng who attended.

The Cantilena Choir is an organization consisting only of ladies' voices. Its purpose is to study the present standards of choral works and to present them to the public in a sacred way.

This year's choir is somewhat smaller than the preceding one, but the quality of the voices and the inspiration that is given by their singing is something that one should enjoy hearing.

Every Tuesday and Thursday, the choir gathers together in the old Rhetoria Hall to practice under the leadership of Prof. D. W. Boyer. This hour is spent in learning our music by memory, and also to prepare ourselves for the programs that are to be given.

During the latter part of the winter term and also during the spring term, the choir gives programs in the surrounding communities. This year the girls traveled by automobiles and Prof. Boyer took care of the trailer and robes. The choir gives an hour program at each place and so far, the choir has had a very successful year. To add variety to our programs, we are favored with vocal and piano solos by different members of the choir.

This choir gives each one an opportunity to express herself in song and to help others to appreciate good music.

George Ewing, Vice-President and Librarian.

As 4:00 P. M. rolls around, it finds many a student at Thurm's enjoying his daily "coke," but the M. C. band members are trudging up to the third floor to begin their work. They do enjoy exercising their lungs each Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 4:00 to 5:00, and they hope that their efforts do not pass unappreciated. The winter season finds the pep bands putting a bright spot into the basketball games; meanwhile, the concert band is trying to better its interpretation of Sibelius and Bach.

The band feels that it has an unusual honor in the fact that Darrell Dunham, its first-chair trumpeter, played on tour with Edgar Petrie's White Hussars. And Darrell's excellent playing is backed by each individual in the college band, who is giving the best that he has. It is this cooperation and spirit of achievement that makes band an hour well spent.

A new policy of giving concerts in high schools where former M. C. music majors are teaching has been initiated this year. They hope to continue this, and under Dr. S. L. Fleuckiger's able guidance to strive steadily up the scale.

The orchestra, under the guidance of Dr. S. L. Fleuckiger, enjoyed a full year of programs. In addition to the concerts given in and around M. C. the orchestra participated in three joint programs with the University of Bowling Green and Bluffton College of Ohio. Manchester made the trip to Ohio for a concert in each school and was host to the two visiting orchestras later.

A fitting climax to the year's work was the Band Clinic, after which the orchestra gave its annual evening concert under the direction of guest conductor and critic, Mr. E. J. Fitchhorn.

Each member of the orchestra had the opportunity to cooperate in this organization and to make it a means of furthering their music appreciation and ability.

It is a difficult task to truly express the merits of a great man with mere words. To make the correct choice of these words, to accurately convey the true meaning is a real challenge—so when it comes to Coach Burt we must admit that we're "stumped". Burt has been a fine leader, a great coach, and a real inspiration to those boys who have had the privilege to work under him. This year his untiring efforts were rewarded with a state championship team; the second time a Manchester squad has received this honor during his coaching career of seventeen years. Next year "Barney" faces one of the toughest schedules ever tackled by a Spartan team. But as in the past, Coach Burt will produce a team that merits pride and honorable recognition.

Assistant Coaches

It is the assistant coaches who are really the unsung heroes. Theirs is a task of hard work and little praise. Week days are spent at practice and on game days they can be found miles away scouting coming opponents. Hank Wade takes the "rookies", shows them the intricacies of the Manchester system and polishes them in their position. Bull Detrick handled the line. He, too, has been a valuable help assuming much of the tedious detail work that is necessary in building a fine team. Here are two fellows who are good coaches and great guys.

Intramurals

During the fall there is softball and debate, in winter basketball and extemporaneous speaking, and in the spring tennis, archery, and baseball form the curriculum of intramurals. It is the purpose of those in charge to give every student an opportunity to participate in intramural activities. Thus he can enjoy and derive benefits from all phases of campus life. Therefore, a student active in intramurals has plenty of physical exercise, he talks and thinks on his feet, and he has learned to know a large number of students personally. Thus, we can readily see the value and importance of intramurals to the student and the school.

Dear Staff:

It was just a year ago when we started sowing the seeds of hope, ambition, and hard labor in the direction of this year's annual; we cared for, cultivated, and changed our plans—giving them our undivided attention. Time and time again we've gone "Around The Manchester Clock", and now, we have arrived at the hour when our task is almost complete, and we can begin to see the fruit of our labor.

There were times when it looked as though the darkness of misunderstanding might cause our plans to wilt, but then, there came the sunshine of faith and soon we'd find ourselves taking a new grip. It was by rubbing elbows with each other, by smearing rubber cement on the wrong side of those never ending freshmen pictures, double-crossing ideas on life in general, and by having those midnight struggles with the literary copy, that we came to realize that we're all made of the same stuff—assembled in a little different pattern.

And now, we must part, leaving our record behind, hidden among the raffles of history at old M. C. But before we go, let me take this last opportunity to thank Prof. L. W. Shultz, our adviser, the photography department, The Indianapolis Engraving Company, The S. K. Smith Company, The Benton Review Shop, and all of you who have had a part in the construction of the 1941 Aurora. It has been lots of fun, loads of work, and a great experience; so until the hour of the "Manchester Clock" strikes when we shall meet once again, best wishes, and thanks for everything.

THE DAILY BLACKOUT IN YOUR HOME!

Let I. E. S. Lamps Bring Eye-Saving
Light to Every Corner of Every Room

Night falls, darkness comes . . . and there is nothing we can do about it. But inside the home we can put a stop to the daily blackout and bring cheering, healthful light to every corner of every room. Saving money on lights is really the costliest and most dangerous economy of all. The person who believes that one light, with a small bulb, is enough for any room, doesn't realize that he is needlessly straining the eyesight of his loved ones that may cost a lifetime of headaches, fatigue, dullness . . . and many dollars in medical bills. Let I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps do the job for you. Don't let yours be a one-bulb room and one-room house, but bring the fullest benefit of our better lighting experience to every corner of every room.

INDECO GUIDES TO BETTER ANNUALS

STABILITY

Since the turn of the century the Indianapolis Engraving Company, Inc., has maintained the highest standards of quality and intelligent cooperation, thus accounting for the continuous use of our service by many high schools, colleges and universities.

QUALITY

Indeco quality is the finest that modern equipment and skilled craftsmen can produce. Every engraving is unconditionally guaranteed to be a perfect printing plate and to give a faithful reproduction of your engraving copy.

SPECIALIZATION

Our service includes help in planning and designing, suggestions on how to get the best pictorial effects, assistance in preparation of engraving copy, and solving the many problems arising in making your book both an editorial and financial success.

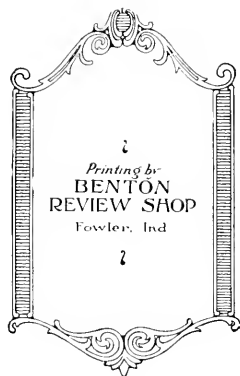

IDEAS

The latest ideas in yearbook construction are offered to make the annual best meet the requirements of your particular school. Our "Service Manual" is a complete guide for the staff in their work.

RESULTS

Indeco planned yearbooks have long been recognized as being among the outstanding annuals of the country. You will be agreeably surprised, too, at the purchasing power of your budget. Write us asking for a complete explanation of the Indeco plan.
